YOUTHFUL BANDITS CAUGHT IN CHASE

Fred Walzer and Cops Round Up Invading Rowdy Gang.

SOME HELD FOR COURT

Considerable sprinting on the part of three policemen and one magistrate broke up the activities of a gang of juvenile bandits in Narberth this week. Fourteen West Philadelphia rowdies, tough as nails, were put behind the bars.

Complaints were received by police Tuesday that a group of unknown boys, ranging in age from 12 to 16, had appeared on the scene at Merion and Wynnewood avenues, annoying and finally robbing several Narberth boys of small sums of money.

Wednesday the six offenders, with eight younger associates again invaded the territory, bent on more easy victims. In the afternoon they wandered over the Shortridge estate west of Wynnewood avenue, waiting for trouble.

They found it, but in the form of police—not Narberth boys. Magistrate Fred Walzer and Officer Frank Flynn appeared on the scene and captured several of the gang. The rest scattered. The captives were driven to Ardmore and put behind bars in the police station.

Returning from Ardmore, the minions of the law espied a group of survivors of the gang at Wynnewood and Lancaster avenues and called to them to halt. The command was ignored, and instead the group of boys scattered in all directions.

After one went Officer Flynn, well-rounded, but no mean runner. Down roads and over fields he ran, finally firing his revolver into the ground to make the fugitive stop. It was useless; the youth knew the officer would not aim at him.

But finally Flynn overtook the young bandit, both winded, and the policeman, so he claims, 10 pounds under weight.

In the meantime Fred Walzer was being led a merry chase over the fields by another of the gang. The magistrate's training as a bowler and baseball manager helped to balance the difference in age, and

Mrs. Herman Schwartz, well-known here as a speaker on politics, is scheduled to address the gathering. Her topic will be "The Ballot." Mrs. Schwartz is sure to be interesting and her information may he relied upon.

NARBERTH TO PLAY INDEPENDENT BALL

Non-Participation in League Decided on at Meeting Monday.

ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Narberth will play independent baseball this summer. This was decided upon at the meeting of the club last Monday at the fire house. This will mean a home game every Saturday instead of every other Saturday as was the custom in the league. Twilight games will be played every Wednesday, chiefly for practice.

The deciding factor to play independent ball was the desire to play more games at home during the season. It is thought that games can be scheduled with teams of equal strength with the home club so that interesting games will result and so many one-sided affairs as was the case in the league can be avoided.

Officers for the 1928 season were also elected, all nominees being unanimously elected. E. C. Griswold was chosen president to succeed John A. Miller. Mr. Griswold took the chair immediately, and the following were elected to office: John Nash, vice president; Charles Harnden, secretary-treasurer; Bob Compton, assistant secretary-treasurer; Fred Walzer, manager; Harry Hollar, assistant manager and business manager; William Newborg, property man.

Business Manager Hollar is now engaged in scheduling games, as the opening of the season is not far off. The first twilight game will be played on the first Wednesday in May and the regular series will commence about the middle of the month. The club may play away on Sundays in order to average the expense of visiting teams on Saturday.

The dressing rooms and showers in the community building will again be available for the teams.

FIRESIDE EDITOR REPORTS VISITING

Week-ending and Vacationing Are Popular Forms of Diversion.

Mrs. George Gilpin, Jr., has issued invitations for luncheon followed by a party, at the performance of the Mask and Wig Club on Saturday, April 14, in honor of her niece, Miss Florence Dorothy Haist. Miss Haist, who is a member of the Lyman School at Wynnewood, is spending a week in Atlantic City with her family, to remain until after the Easter holidays.

Benjamin Fillmore Yowell, Jefferson D. Yowell, Quincy Lee Yowell and George M. Utz spent a few days in Syria, Va., this week-end, where they attended the funeral of their grandfather.

Mr. Charles B. Starn and family have left Louderdale, Fla., and are now residing in Hollywood, Fla. They closed their home on Rockland avenue a week or so ago.

Miss Freda Senn, of Elmwood avenue, spent last week-end visiting in Wilmington, Del.

Miss Cyril Haughey, Forest avenue, left Tuesday for a two months' stay in Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Rickmers, of Oak lane, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Peter Claus, 2d, on March 22. Mrs. Rickmers will be remembered as Miss Peggy Walters, of Valley View road, Merion.

Leaves Local Church

The Rev. W. Sheridan Dawson, shifted by Conference assignment from Narberth M. E. Church to the Wissahickon Church, Philadelphia.

GIFTS TO LIBRARY AT HALF-WAY MARK

Contributions Now Total $276 Towards the Necessary Equipment.

MORE HELP IS NEEDED

The fund being raised by popular contributions to provide needed additional equipment for the Community Library has passed the half-way mark.

The goal is $500 and to date the gifts total $276. This leaves a balance of $224 still to be raised.

The library is badly in need of additional shelving and other equipment and must have these furnishings if it is to meet the demands of the public and render the service that it is really capable of rendering. Checks should be made payable to the Narberth Community Library and mailed as soon as possible to Mrs. Elizabeth K. Wood, 237 Forrest avenue, Narberth, Penna.

Some idea of the growth and activity of the library may be gained from the fact that the 18 books which constituted the library when it started seven years ago have grown to more than 6000 volumes. But even this surprising statement does not tell the whole story. Many additionai books that were of timely, but passing, interest have been worn out "in the service," and having served their purpose have necessarily been discarded. The result is that the library as it stands today represents more than 6000 carefully selected books that are representative of every branch of reading and study.

But still the library grows. And so it should if the people of Narberth—from the youngest student to the maturest reader of the latest fiction, are to have a public library such as they need and are entitled to. But growth and progress cost money and that"s exactly why the Narberth Community Library now needs $500 and is asking the citizens of this and adjoining communities to help raise the fund. The trustees of the Library Association themselves "started the ball a-rolling" with a contribution of $50. The total gifts received to date follow:

REV. SAMUEL MacADAMS APPOINTED PASTOR OF NARBERTH M. E. CHURCH

Shift Made by Philadelphia Conference at 141st Session Moves Rev. W. Sheridan Dawson to Wissahickon Church, Philadelphia.

Sunday, April 1, will see a new pastor installed in the Narberth M. E. Church as a result of the 141st Philadelphia M. E. Conference, which adjourned last Wednesday afternoon.

The Rev. W. Sheridan Dawson, pastor since April 1, 1924, is succeeded this week by the Rev. Samuel MacAdams, the appointee of the conference. Mr. Dawson goes to the Wissahickon Methodist Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, as his new assignment.

During Mr. Dawson's pastorate in Narberth plans have been formulated for the new church building and a lot purchased at the corner of Essex and Price avenues. Architects' sketches of the proposed structure have have been published on the church page of Our Town of an earlier date. It is hoped that this work, so ably begun, will be carried to a successful fruition by Mr. MacAdams.

Mr. MacAdams comes to Narberth from the Mt. Hermon Methodist Church, where he served during 1927. As Narberth offered a more fruitfull field of endeavor, he felt justified in accepting the appointment, altho his parishioners at Mt. Hermon were much disappointed at his removal.

Mr. MacAdams, first charge was Mountainhome 1913-1915. During his pastorate there a new church was built which is one of the finest and most admired in Monroe county . From there he was transferred to Wharton Memorial to assist Dr. E. W. Stillman who was seriously ill. The full work of the pastorate devolved upon him and after Dr. Stillman's death Mr. MacAdams remained in charge till the following conference.

In 1917 Mr. MacAdams was appointed to Swarthmore, where he was instrumental in laying the foundations of a fund to erect a new church. The interest of the trustees of the old Eighteenth Street Church was gained, and they afterwards made a gift of $30,000 to the project. The work carried on then resulted in the handsome and commodious structure that now stands in that delightful suburb of Philadelphia.

After three years in Asbury, Philadelphia, Mr. MacAdams was sent to Mary A. Simpson in 1923. During his pastorate there the interior of the church was completely remodeled which utterly transformed the sanctuary. The cost of this work was paid within the year.

Then followed the year at Mt. Hermon previous to his appointment to Narberth.

New Methodist Pastor

The Rev. Samuel MacAdams, new pastor of the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church, appointed by the Philadelphia Conference.

FLAG LECTURE SUCCESS

The "Trail of the Flag," an illustrated lecture given last Tuesday evening by the Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter of the D. A. R. for the boys and girls of Narberth, was attended by a large crowd. The trail of the flag was followed from coast to coast and from north to south and every bit of the way filled with interesting and exciting stories of its travel.

Before the lecture the boys and girls stood and gave the salute to the flag at the close, the American's creed.

KINGS DAUGHTERS MEET

The regular meeting of the Evangel Circle of Kings Daughters will be held Wednesday, April 4, at the home of Mrs. Howard C. Fritsch, Wynnewood road (the second house above Windsor avenue), at 11 A. M. The word for the roll call is Promise or Covenant.

LEGION B. AND L. OPEN NEW SERIES

Saving Habit Made Easy by Building and Loan Associations.

A new series of stock will open next Tuesday, April 3, in the Narberth American Legion Building and Loan Association.

The last series was the largest in the history of the association and a series was matured in February. The fifth double series matured in 78 months, being the first double series issued by the Association. Another series will mature in a few months, which will also mature in 78 months.

This association is not restricted to members of the American Legion, but is open to everybody. Members of the local post sponsored the association, but it is a true civic project, working for the good of the entire community.

The growth of the association in its seven years of operation is good evidence of the faith of our stockholders and its value to the community.

Double and single shares are issued in every series. Single shares require a saving of one dollar per month per share and double shares two dollars per month per share.

Entrance fee for single shares is 25 cents per share and double shares 50 cents per share. The entrance fee of course is payable for the first month only.

Any stockholder having free shares may obtain a loan on the same at any monthly meeting or during any month, providing the funds on hand or cash in bank is sufficient to take care of the request.

A recent act of the Legislature provides that minor children over 16 year of age may hold and control shares of stock in their own names.

This act makes it possible for the saving habit to be impressed upon children at a time in life when its benefit will be most appreciated.

WRITES MUSIC HISTORY

An interesting and comprehensive history of music in New London, Conn., was recently published in the Evening Day of that city, the work of Miss Grace E. Houston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Houston, formerly of Narberth.

BENEFIT MOVIE PLANNED

The Narberth Needlework Guild will hold a benefit at the Narberth Theater on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, May 22. The picture is "Sorrel and Son." Tickets may be procured from any member of the guild.

TRACK PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN AT L. M.

Plenty of Good Material Is Seen in Early Spring Try-Outs.

MANY VETERANS GONE

The athletic field at Lower Merion High School is a-swarm with athletes—tall boys, fat boys, lean ones and little fellows, all on the field at the same time; but each one is striving for the same goal. Some are out for the baseball team while the others are trying just as hard to make a place for themselves on the track squad.

Lower Merion seems to turn out good track teams always and this year promises to be no exception to the rule. Coach Adam has over 40 likely looking candidates out for the squad and all seem to have "the makings."

Gone from the squad are the two mainstays of the past few years, Houseman, Stewart, Gibson, et al., but in Captain Bob Corrigan, Lloyd, Segal, Kesler, Gerenbeck, Baker, Smith, Kohlhas, Degan and Mearns Coach Adam has the nucleus of another championship team. Captain Corrigan and Degan are sure point-winners in the high jump, with Corrigan also sure to figure in the broad jump and the 100-yard dash.

Smith and Baker are other good bets for the pole vault, with Baker also being used in the relay. Segal will take care of the weight events, assisted by Bill Mearns. Both put the shot and throw the discus better than the average. In the javelin Segal also stands out.

The short dashes are taken care of by Coleman, Gerenbeck, Baker, Corrigan, Purring and Remington. The longer runs will be well handled by Lloyd, Kohlhas, Kesler and several others. In the hurdle events are Coleman, Dockens, Vance, Deubler. Taking the squad as a whole the team appears well balanced, one that will have a good chance to repeat the efforts of its predecessors. Coach Adam will bring the squad along slowly, as a pulled tendon or a sprained ankle could easily keep a boy out for the entire season.

NOON MEETING POPULAR

Board of Trade Shows Renewed Life at Monday Luncheon.

That the Narberth Board of Trade will contest the removal of the freight station to Ardmore instead of Wynnewood as was the original avowed intention of the P. R. R. was evident at the meeting held Monday noon. Narberth freight users may, it seems, have their orders left at Wynnewood, but there is no checkup or care taken of them. The Public Relations Committee was authorized to communicate with the railroad about the matter.

Judging by the attendance, the noonday hour is a popular one with the members, as about thirty-three sat down to an excellent lunch supervised by Marios Chios, proprietor of the Arcadia restaurant.

An amendment to the by-laws was adopted, providing for the election of two members to the Executive Committee. Thereupon Alex. C. Betus and Henry Nash were elected to that committee.

UNION MEETINGS SCHEDULED

During the next week the following meetings at 8 P. M. have been planned in the Narberth churches: Monday—Lutheran Church, with sermon by Rev. John Van Ness. Tuesday—Methodist Church, with sermon by Rev. Cletus A. Senft. Wednesday—Baptist Church, with sermon by the Rev. Samuel MacAdams. Thursday—Presbyterian Church, with sermon by Rev. Robert E. Keighton. Everyone is cordially invited to each of these meetings.

HOLD MONTHLY MEETING

The Womens Missionary Society of the Lutheran Church will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Stuart Weiss, 207 Hampden avenue, at 2 P. M. on Tuesday, April 3.

JUNIOR HIGH GIVES COLUMBUS PAGEANT

School Children Please in Annual Parents' Night Program.

Parents of students of the Lower Merion Junior High School were given a treat Tuesday and Wednesday nights, when they were entertained by the Eighth and Ninth Grade students in "Columbus," a dramatic festival. The occasion was the fourth annual Parents' Night, given in the Junior High School at Ardmore.

Surprisingly well portrayed, the story of Columbus was told before a capacity audience both nights. Enthusiastic applause greeted the pleasing vocal numbers, incidental dances, well-designed costumes and stage settings, and the dramatic ability of a large cast of Junior High School students.

Marred by only the slightest of flaws, the story was presented of vision-filled Columbus, whose dream of a voyage beyond the edge of the known world came true; and who, thrown in a dungeon for failure to find the riches of the old world which he had sought, was yet comforted at death by a vision of the growth, in his newly-found world, of a nation greater than that of his ungrateful sovereigns, and in which Liberty offered freedom to all races and creeds.

Many members of Principal E. H. Snow's faculty collaborated in making the performances successful. Among those to whom credit was given in a program printed by the Lower Merion school press, were Katharine K. Morss, Elizabeth R. Hovey and Dora E. A. Reade, who directed the girls and boys of the school in their rehearsals.

Edna A. Cranston, assisted by Carolyn M. Schell, Jean Carlisle, Charlotte Chambers, Joyce Trenholme, Eleanor Kavanagh, and Dorothy Kohlhas with the sewing classes, made the costumes; Lillian Sharp designed the costumes and executed the painting of the scenery; Mary M. Collins directed the music; Lyman Suloff did the woodworking.

"BRING ME MEN TO MATCH MY MOUNTAINS"

Sermon Delivered by Pastor of Presbyterian Church on March 25.

Text, 2 Timothy, 1:12—"I Know Him Whom I Have Believed."

This age to which we have come bulks big with the destinies of men and of nations. Every age has its own peculiar tasks and responsibilities, but this new age fairly shrieks to us with its demands and its challenges. The past generations have laid fearful obligations upon us as "heirs of all the ages in the foremost files of time." It was said that the trophies of Miltiades would not allow the younger Greeks to sleep. They furnished demands that must be met; they set a pace that must be outstripped; they laid increasing responsibilities on the new generation. God's plans for the ages always involve progress. So Julia Ward Howe wrote it in her immortal Battle Hymn of the Republic: "Our God is marching on." Although God's clock says "tick" in one century and "tock" in the next, He is surely marching on. Although it may be a thousand years between his subject and predicate, He will surely finish His sentence, for He is moving forward.

And here we are a part of God's plan—at the very head of the procession, pressing forward into greater opportunities and greater responsibilities than the world has ever had before. Remember how the past ages seem to converge upon this new age and upon us. Go back a few years. Take the fifteenth century, when this new world was lifted out of the ocean before the eager gaze of Columbus; when art was reborn through Michel Angelo and statecraft through the Medicis and religion through Savonaroa and in Germany Gutenberg discovered the use of movable type. Think what all these discoveries mean to us today. Take the sixteenth century, with its conflicts for the religious liberty we enjoy; with Elizabeth on the throne in England and Mary ruling in Scotland, but fearing John Knox more than all the armies of Europe; with Germany shaking under the tread of Luther and Switzerland under Calvin, and France broken by the horrors of the Inquisition and the Massacre of Saint Bartholomew's day. Then came the conflicts for civil liberty culminating in the American Revolution. And since those days art and literature and science and industry have all added their great contributions to make this day to which we have come the greatest of all days and to make us heirs indeed of all the centuries. These former ages have made this age possible. And here we are in this new day, with its new order of world solidarity, with its prodigious resources of power and wealth and knowledge, and its growing internationalism and its demilitarization of war. Here we are on the mountain peak of civilization—and trembling with the tremendous responsibility which is ours as we hear the challenge for new men to match the new age. We hear the demand of the God who made us and who made the everlasting hills and who brought us to this day: "Bring me men to match my mountains,

Bring me men to match m yplains;
Men with empires in their purpose
And new eras in their veins,
Pioneers to clear thought's marshland land
And to cleanse old error's fen.
Bring me men to match my mountains;
Bring me men."

Presbyterian Pastor

The Rev. John Van Ness whose sermon is the third in the second series of pages devoted to Narberth's churches.

It is said that when Napoleon drew up his troops before the Marmelukes under the shadows of the great pyramids, pointing to those massive piles, he exclaimed: "Remember from yonder heights forty centuries look down upon you." Oh, children of today, from this pyramid of opportunity and responsibility which the centuries have erected and on the top of which we stand, remember that we are looking down upon the centuries before us. We stretch out our hands toward the future, with power to mould the destinies of unborn millions.

"We are living, we are dwelling
In a grand and awful time,
In an age on ages telling
To be living is sublime."

And God is saying, "Bring me men to match my mountains."

Oh, who is sufficient for these things! As we press on into the new day, how shall we meet its great challenge? During the Great War two soldier lads were sitting together talking quietly in their little tent on the eve of a battle; talking as only men would talk in the presence of the Great Unknown. "Oh, Tucker, we don't know what's in the future, do we?" And the other quietly answered, "No, Thomas, thank God, we do not." Then, after an oppressive silence came these words, "O Tucker, we know Who is in the future, don't we?" Ah, this is the only hope we have for the new age—we know Who is in the future. The only hope we have to match with our talents and powers the challenge of the new day. We know, you and I, Who is in the future. And we can reverently say with Paul the words of the text, "I know Him Whom I have believed." No man is fit for very much until there is some great objective in his life in which he believes. It is then he cries out in the abandon of his soul, "This one thing I do," and forgetting the things that are behind he presses on to the greater tasks before him. "I believe"—in Latin it is "Credo," from which we get our word "Creed." Whatever we believe, that is our creed. Everybody has a creed; we cannot escape from it. But there is this wonderful thing about Jesus Christ, that He Himself is the Christian's creed. He Himself is his religion. In this Christianity differs from all other religions, which are rooted in methods and books and doctrines. No reverence for a book and no pursuit of a method can alone make one a Christian. Christianity is the religion of a Person. And those who attempt to reduce Christianity to an ethical system, as they seem to have done in these recent meetings of the Federation of Faiths, have utterly failed to represent Christianity at all. Detach Christ from His system and it is no longer a system. His doctrine is a self-assertion. He Himself is His religion and he who enters into It enters into Him. And so the Christian insists on this as his creed: "I know Him Whom I have believed."

But oh, when we know Him, truly know with an experimental knowledge and when we center our belief in Him, then we dare press on into this new age unafraid. Then with high resolve and noble endeavor we will leap forward to meet these new problems in the newness of His life. For is not Christ what the world needs today? It is His very life that is so tremendously essential in the crises that confront us. After the signing of the Armistice Lloyd George, then Premier of England, made this remarkable statement: "The problems of Peace are not a whit less challenging or threatening than the perils of war. We dare not go back and build on the old foundations of selfishness. It is Christ or chaos." Yes! It is Christ, and Chrise alone, who can meet the world's needs. For example, it is His all-embracing law of love that will bring peace to this war-worn world—a love that spends itself unselfishly. It is His human interest in human life—gentle, sincere, generous, unselfish, tender and kind; it is such an interest that is absolutely essential to secure a better understanding and good-will among the peoples of the world. It is the Christ of today who holds himself free from all narrowness and bigotry and free for all service and helpfulness; it is that spirit and that alone which is adequate to produce that fellowship and fraternity

What is it to be a Christian? Could is the Christ who lives in the hearts of His disciples who alone can furnish new men for this new age.

"Men with empires in their purpose
And new eras in their veins."

"What is it to be a Christian? Could there be a better definition than the words of the text, "I know Him Whom I have believed"? To be a Christian is to know Christ and to believe Christ; to know Him as our Redeemer and Saviour and Friend and Lord and to really believe that He is all that to us. There are grave questions which face us in this new age. Christ, and Christ alone, in the hearts of Christian people can meet them. Let us gird up our loins and in His Name press forward to take our part in the bringing in of the Kingdom of Righteousness. Let us endeavor to exemplify the Spirit of Christ in our homes, in our schools, in our business and industrial and international and interracial relations. Let us press on with an imperial consciousness that here is One Who will fully satisfy every need and is sufficient to meet all the challenges of the new age to which we have come.

Passion Week! Holy Week!
The Via Dolorosa! The Way of Sorrows!
It is the Mysterious Pathway of Our Lord.

There are many ways of observing this week. We can best do it by following in our meditations and our prayers these deeper scenes in the life of our blessed Lord from whose throbbing heart flows the life blood into the members of His Body—His Church.

"When I survey the wondrous cross
On which the Prince of Glory died
My richest gain I count but loss
And pour contempt on all my pride.

See from His head, His hands, His feet,
Sorrow and love flow mingled down;
Did e'er such love and sorrow meet,
Or thorns compose so rich a crown?"

NIPPED IN THE BUD

"When two or three are gathered together—" says the Bible and lays the basis for worship. But the gathering of two or three, or many more, can indicate less worthy matters.

Formation of groups of young people for the recreation or friendship is a splendid thing, the basis of demochacy and civic progress. Formation of groups of boys under the leadership of criminally-inclined rowdies leads often to the bars of prison, tragedy, death.

When spring comes the street becomes a focal point for spare-time gathering. In the past years Narberth has seen groups of boys, impelled by the gang spirit and too much leisure time, before the representatives of the law petty theivery, drunkenness and disorderly conduct. This trouble has subsided—let it be hoped for good.

But this week Narberth was treated to some tactics when a score of West Philadelphia rowdies, probably driven from their chosen haunts by police, invadd the peaceful playgrounds of the south side. They descended upon local boys of grammar school age, who, outnumbered by a hardboiled gang, paid tribute.

Eight of the invaders, minus $8.50 each, and possessed of a wholesome respect for Main Line methods, have been sent home chastened. Six others, with crimnial records in some cases, will be brought before the County Juvenile Courts. Thus was a bad situation nipped ni the bud.

Narberth seems to be rid of the nuisance, but as a problem in sociology there is much unsolved. What of the boys? Here are six youths, not one of which has attained the age of 16, in the toils of the law. They confess that it is not the first time.
one of these boys appeared at the hearing and agreed that her son should go to jail—she could do nothing. One is out on probation from another offense. Yet, in the normal order of things, none of them is old enough to be called a man. What of the future?

Chicago's name is blackened by thuggery and gang warfare, but Philadelphia can point with little pride to its own recent history. This week a group of boys, in the formative years of their lives, stood convicted of petty crime.

AVE ATQUE VALE

This week Narberth loses a citizen and gains a new one. To the Rev. W. Sheridan Dawson, good-bye and good luck in his new pastorate. He leaves many friends, both among the members of the Methodist Church, and in the town at large.

Rev. Samuel McAdams, who will guide the destinies of the Methodist Church comes to us with a fine record of achievement. We welcome him to the community, pledging the support of the press in the work he is to do.

THE OTHER VIEW

To the Editor of Our Town:

If township people are permitted to enter the discussion, I can say, as a result of six years experience, that Narberth will retain its present form of government if it knows when it is well off, and if its citizens desire to be regarded as more than Nomads.

Would it not be more logical and profitable to start a movement which would bring all the territory immediately contiguous to Narberth into a greater borough?

A TOWNSHIP NEIGHBOR.

ANSWERS ATTACK

To the Editor of Our Town:

I regret very much the appearance of Mr. Wohlert's leter published in your last week's issue referring to the vote cast at the last meeting of Council on the resolution offered in connection with the temporary permit issued for the removal of the building on the railroad property.

As president of Council I resent the implication cast upon the four members who voted against the resolution. To imply that they do not have the same regard for the public interest as the three members who voted in favor of the resolution is both unfair and unjust.

It should be borne in mind that that phase of the controversy dealing with the expiration of the temporary permit was covered in almost the same manner by the report of the Building Committee; which report was accepted unanimously.

When the vote on the resolution was recorded, it disposed of this question as far as Council is concerned until it is brought up at a later date in accordance with the report of the Building Committee.

It has always been a pleasure to the writer to be able to state that Council is free from petty politics and that the vote on every question reflected the personal judgment of each member and I deplore the attempt of any one to inject politics into any matter considered by them.

HEAR CLOTHES TALK

Club Women Are Entertained; Many Events Scheduled on Calendar.

At Mrs. Eberhardt Muller's on Tuesday afternoon, 30 club women were most enthusiastic about the talk on "Just Clothes" given by Elizabeth M. Beadles, home extension representative sent out by Pennsylvania State College. The aim of this work is to instruct women, particularly in the rural districts of Bucks and Montgomery counties, in such "projects" as courses in dressmaking, proper diet, preparation of foods, furnishing and arranging the house with especial emphasis on time and labor saving in the kitchen. "Canning and preserving," once a popular subject, is seldom given now. "Mending" was demonstrated to a group of young women, Miss Beadles showing them how to care for silk stockings, then how to care for the feet, how to walk, etc., until she almost had a hygiene class.

The topic of most interest to the local women was "dressmaking," which included selection of material, study of designs and color and the drafting of a muslin foundation to fit each individual. Twenty-one signed up for a class to be held next September. The home economics committee served fruit punch and delicious cakes.

The Calendar.

April 2 a special business meeting of the Women's Community Club will be held at 2 P. M. at the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church to discuss plans for the new club house.

On April 3 the Women's Community Club will be entertained with a demonstration of "The Melody Way," a method invented by W. Otto Miessner for teaching the piano to children in classes. Miss F. L. Seabury, music teacher, organist and choir director of Philadelphia, will give a talk on this method and will bring her own pupils to demonstrate the work. The pupils, who recently gave a radio recital over Station WLIT, did so after four class lessons, and their interpretation was most unusual.

Professor Jack Hart, chaplain and instructor at the University of Pennsylvania, who will be the other speaker, needs no introduction to an audience so near his field of labor. Professor Hart has taken for his subject, "Religious Education." This meeting will be held in the Narberth Theater Hall. Mrs. James F. Sherron will be the hostess of the afternoon.

April 10 the Home Economics Class will see a motion picture of the Dairy Industry. Suggestions will be received on "How to serve refreshments for bridge and other parties," by Ellen S. Brinton. The class as usual will meet at the home of Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller, 208 Essex avenue.

April 11 the Literature group will meet at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. G. Newman, 439 Anthwyn road.

April 13 the Music Study Class will meet at the home of Mrs. Arthur Staples. The lesson will be on 19th century music.

GOVERNOR REAPPOINTS DR. SNYDER TO BOARD

Has Served as Osteopathic President For 18 Years.

Word has been received from Harrisburg that Dr. O. J. Snyder, of Narberth and Woodbine avenues, has been reappointed to the State Board of Osteopathic Examiners by Governor Fisher, thereby entering upon his seventh three-year term.

He was originally appointed by Governor Stuart in 1909, when the Board was first organized, and his colleagues elected him president, which post he has held continuously ever since.

Dr. Snyder has been exceptionally active in the promotion and advancement of osteopathy in this State. When in 1899 the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy was organized, Dr. Snyder was elected its first president, and continued in that post until he accepted the office of State Examiner. The institution now has an enrollment of more than 300 students and property assets exceeding $500,000. It was largely due to Dr. Snyder's efforts that the course of instruction for osteopaths both as relates to preliminary and professional training was made parallel to the requirements for the practice of medicine.

Dr. Snyder also held the office of president of the American Osteopathic Association (1915-1916), having a membership of more than 8000. This is the highest honor within the gift of the profession. Prior to entering upon the study of osteopathy, Dr. Snyder served for five years as Special Examiner of the United States Pension Bureau.

To Start Institute

An institute of politics in Montgomery county will be held at Bryn Mawr College Tuesday, April 10, under the Montgomery County League of Women Voters co-operating with those of Chester, Delaware and Bucks counties.

Bryn Mawr College, Haverford College, Swarthmore College and Ursinus College will be represented.

The speakers will be Dr. Charles Fenwick, Bryn Mawr; Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York; Major Julia Stinson, Army Nurses Department, Washington; the Hon. Huston Thompson, and Mr. Frank R. Kent. Luncheon will be served at the college and dinner at the Merion Cricket Club.

GILFILLAN CAMP
Swimming Club
Spring Lake Paoli, Pa.
The primary object in joining a club of this kind is that one may go there for a couple of hours in the evening for some real exercise and relaxation or enjoy a whole day in the great outdoors.
Spring Lake, because of its accessibility to the Main Line and its natural beauty, makes it irresistible. The location, combining the attractions of woods and fields, provides ideal picnic spots. The lake affords quiet, shallow water for canoeing. There is a beach for timid swimmers and beginners, and for the more advanced swimmers and divers every facility for water sports, tennis, basketball and other sports is offered. The year-round membership includes ice-skating privileges.
There is health in the great outdoors—health in its fullest sense—physical, mental, spiritual. Our late President Roosevelt said: "To be fit mentally, one must be fit physically." This exclusive little place will serve the latter purpose.
Adults, $10.00; six to sixteen years, $5.00. Children under twelve years of age must be attended by adults. Guest, accompanied by member, 50 cents. Special rates for families. Swimming instructions, six lessons for $5.00.

The lawn has been rolled with a heavy water-roller, hired from an enterprising hardware dealer who charges $1 per day (or fraction thereof). The lawn liked the rolling; it seems greener each day and is firm and level. Speaking of lawns, see House Beautiful for April and read the article, "Don't Lime Your Lawn."

Our sweet peas are planted according to directions in the garden column and in about ten days we will be lifting the excelsior out of the trench and watching for the green shoots.

We find delphiniums, planted last fall, a full two inches out of the ground, which reminds us that we must hasten to place sharp cinders around the shoots to keep the pesky slugs (snails) away.

The snapdragon seeds planted ten days ago are up and green. We must watch them carefully and give them air without draft and water them "from the bottom up" to prevent damping off.

We want Ipomea, the Japanese morning glory, so we put the seeds in a bowl of warm water and placed the bowl over a register and the seeds swelled up beautifully. They were promptly potted up in small pots and placed on the sunny window sill to be planted out later. The variety (Ipomea) Rubra Coerulea, early flowering, is a beautiful light blue and will either climb a lattice or trail down a wall or bank.

Plants of hybrid delphiniums set out now will bloom this summer, and under good conditions will bloom three times.

Spring is the time to plant hardy phlox for July and August bloom.

When selecting dahlias do not overlook Jersey's Beauty, the best pink ever introduced and one of the best dahlias, $1 per tuber, and cheap at that. We have been accused of having a "color scheme complex," but we have looked at many gardens, and many flowers, and good pink- or rose-colored flowers are still the most elusive of all the colors, except possibly the blue such as found in delphinium bella donna or linum perenne.

No! Mrs. Neighbor, the tulips won't be injured by late frosts; they just wanted to let you know where they were planted so that you wouldn't cut them or break them in your early gardening operations. The bloom is still down deep in the bulb and will be on the job about May 15 to May 20. Narcissi not up yet? Horrors! But let's don't worry; they'll be here in mid-April and will be all over before the tulips bloom.

"The appreciation of beauty is part of the more abundant life."

At the Theater

"Soft Living," a Fox Films comedy-drama, which comes to the Narberth Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, is another triumph for Madge Bellamy.

Miss Bellamy again proves that she is one of the screen's leading comediennes. Her effective characterization of the young secretary who thinks she is after money instead of love is one of her best performances in many months.

Jungle fastnesses, lurking dangers, the mysterious beat of the tomtoms, the soul-searching silences and what these things do to the loves of men and women are shown in Ralph Ince's "South Sea Love," which is to open at the Narberth Theater Wednesday and Thursday.

The story begins in the "Roaring Forties" of the Big City, shifts to the jungle depths of 20 degrees latitude, and ends—well, no matter how it ends It has to be seen to appreciate the tense drama of it and the beauty of the photography.

Lionel Barrymore, noted star of the stage and screen, has forsaken the role of a gentleman lover for that of a mysterious professor—sort of a "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" character.

In contrast to his portrayal of the millionaire sweetheart of a pleasure-seeking young woman, he is playing a leading characte- role in "The Thirteenth Hour," a mystery drama, which comes to the Narberth Theatre Friday and Saturday.

GYMNASTS TO DRILL

Will Perform Tonight at Senior High School in Ardmore.

Practically the entire Senior High School student body of 665 will take part in a gymnastic exhibition in the Junior High School gymnasium tonight at 8 o'clock. The student orchestra will play and a program of 12 gym numbers will be preformed for the benefit of the public, which is invited to attend.

A boxing bout, Indian club and wand drills, apparatus work and special feats by the Senior High School Stunt Club will be among the features of the entertainment, which is in charge of Coaches Madeline Uff and William Anderson.

Florida still has some attractions. Uncle John D. Rockefeller is giving away dimes down there. And this isn't bad. A good many people we have heard of have lost dimes in that neck o' the woods.

HERE AND HEREABOUTS

At the homestead at Merion and Montgomery avenues, where he had lived for nearly fifty years, death came last week-end to Nicholas H. Thouron, ending the long career of an old-school gentleman whom many Narberth folks will continue to hold in affectionate regard and memory. He was one of the few who had seen the section come up from a sparsely-settled countryside to a community of formidable proportions, and his interest in it was such that he was always well pleased when his aid and advice were enlisted in any plan or project which was calculated to add to the facilities or progress of the neighborhood. In the numerous things with which he had to do there was ever apparent a great heritage of gentility and broad culture, and his conclusions were reached in a manner which never failed to convey a gracious regard for the opinions of others and a fine conception of the amenities of the occasion. The impressive simplicity of his nature made plain the exalted manner in which his deep religious convictions animated every feature of his long life, and he imposed on himself, until nearly 80 years old, when physical infirmities had increased, a personal procedure which afforded wide contrast to the comfort and indulgence sought by those of us of a later generation. Always an intense patriot, and with a mind which remained virile and alert until the very end, he kept himself well informed on subjects of national importance, and during the war, although past three-score and ten, he never missed an opportunity to further, with all the strength and devotion at his command, the cause of his country at bay with the interests of the men at the front. His charities were manifold and he applied himself to them with a warm solicitude for those befriended, having little use for any mere philanthropy, and it was always a matter of considerable satisfaction to him when progress was made in the settlement of labor disputes and the estate of the workers advanced. To share with others the wisdom of his years provided him with a source of constant inspiration, and it was no inhibited or age-bound viewpoint he brought to bear, but always a discerning tolerance for the insistent demands of a new youth and an abiding optimism that good, properly directed, must always exceed and overcome evil, however difficult a situation might seem to be. He shall be missed amongst us.

Mr. Thouron was born in Philadelphia 84 years ago, the son of Henry Thouron, who was a prominent merchant and importer of those ante-bellum days. The family was of French origin and its first American forebear was Pierre Thouron, who was a general in Napoleon's army, and who came to this country as a political refugee. Mr. Thouron was educated in private schools and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania. He started the banking firm of N. Thouron & Co., 433 Chestnut street, and was a member of the Philadelphia and New York Stock Exchanges. He retired from active business in 1900, under instructions from his physician, but he never ceased to regret the necessity of this decision, as his achievements indicated his commercial aptitude and he always believed a wider field of service would have been afforded by a continuance of his business career. He was a director of the Western New York and Pennsylvania Railroad until it was absorbed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and was also identified with other corporations.

Mr. Thouron purchased his present homesite, called "Derlwyn," in 1880, and at that time acquired 16 acres, part of which he disposed of from time to time, making sure on each occasion to provide regulations which would maintain the high residential character of the vicinity. At the present, the estate consists of about four acres, planted with exceeding beauty and skill, as Mr. Thouron gave full flare to his love for flowers and growing things.

In 1870 Mr. Thouron joined the Philadelphia Club and was an early member of the Art Club. The Orpheus Club came into existence as a result of the great fondness for music which he shared with a few kindred spirits, and it was interesting to have him narrate the early beginnings of this important organization. When the fiftieth anniversary of the Orpheus Club was observed a few years ago, Mr. Thouron was not at all lacking in carrying off his chorus part supremely well, and whilst advancing years made him forego many things, he never failed, if it were at all possible, to be on hand for the Orpheus concerts. When he joined the Merion Cricket Club it was hardly more than a small neighborhood organization, and he could recount many interesting anecdotes of the days when cricket was in its ascendancy as an American game. In 1874 Mr. Thouron married the daughter of Dr. Francis Gurney Smith, Miss Anna Dutilh Smith, who continues to survive him. Their only daughter, Margaret Thouron, is now Mrs. John Harvey Gordon. Henry Thouron, internationally-known artist, who died in Rome in 1915, was a brother of our distinguished neighbor, and his sister, Mary Thouron, was a religious in the Sacred Heart Order for more than 40 years.

Mr. Thouron's affection was continuously bestowed on St. Margaret's Catholic Church. It was here he came every Sunday, and in the early days he was the active director of the choir and its patron until the time of his death. The first mass of the new parish, 27 years ago, was celebrated in his house, and forever after to him that place of Sacrifice was a hallowed and holy spot. As the new Church came to be built, many of its beautiful adornments were donated by the Thouron family, including the handsome main and side altars, several of the windows, the sanctuary rail and a number of the exquisite statues. Throughout the years he was the leader in any plan to provide the additional needs of the Church, and it was a joyous thing to him that he was spared to participate in the silver jubilee of the parish which, occurred in 1926. He was a close student of Church history and liturgy and he regarded religion as the most vital thing in the span of man. He lived the faith that was in him.

Mr. Thouron was a Holy Name man and on last Monday evening his fellow-members prayed at his bier. On Tuesday morning he was buried in the family plot at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. There was a Solemn Mass of Requiem, with Father Hayes, Father O'Connor and Father Doyle. The Gregorian Chant was rendered by St. Patrick's Choir under the direction of Rev. William S. Murphy. It was profoundly beautiful. There were present in the sanctuary Rt. Rev. Monsignor James P. Turner, former Chancellor; Very Rev. James M. Corrigan, D. D., Rector of St. Charles' Seminary; Rev. Luke V. McCabe, D. D., L. L. D., Rector of St. Mathias', Bala, and Rev. William P. Thompson, Rector of St. Patrick's, Philadelphia. There were also present Sisters of Mercy, Sisters of Charity and Sisters of the Holy Child Jesus. There was no sermon. Mr. Thouron wished it so. His eulogy is writ large in the hearts of those who loved him. He shall be missed amongst us.

THE SPECTATOR.

The cap that stands for capability

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS ago milk was sold by the dipper-and-pail method just as it was a half century back.

How different today! Follow it from the inspection of the herds, housed in sanitary barns, to the country receiving station, where it is inspected, tested and cooled, then into the city by "giant thermos bottles on wheels," safe and sanitary. Then the pasteurizing and modern methods of bottling, in thoroughly sterilized vessels. Last, the prompt, dependable delivery of the capped and iced product in the bottle bearing our name.

As you remove the cap and pour its rich cream-topped contents into the glass, rest assured that you are supplied with a product unexcelled in fresh, rich, wholesomeness, and that all along the line there has been expert care, eternal vigilance, endless effort day and night, by an organization that knows its business, that realizes and meets its responsibility, that keeps step with progress; inspecting, testing, safeguarding at every step, that you may be supplied with GOLD MEDAL MILK—measuring up to all that its name implies.

NEW BOOKS READY

Includes Choice of Literary Guild and Book-of-the-Month Club.

The list of new books now ready for circulation at the Narberth Community Library contains those chosen by the Book-of-the-Month Club and the Literary Guild for their recommended March reading. "Deluge," by S. Fowler Wright, the choice of the Book-of-the-Month Club, is a strange tale of a terrific storm that caused the sea to flow over Europe and the British Isles, leaving a part of England as an island in a vast ocean. The few survivors were obliged to begin life all over again with none of the restrictions of civilization and with scarcely any of its defenses. It is a provocative yarn.

In "Black Majesty," recommended by the Literary Guild, the author, John Vandercook, has assembled all the information regarding the career of Henry Christophe, who was born a slave on one of the British West Indian islands and ultimately became the king of Haiti. It is amazing to learn that about 100 years ago there existed in the New World under King Henry a court which in costumes, ceremonials and in palatial surroundings closely duplicated the regal centers of the Old World, and that the king, courtiers and soldiery were all former black slaves. The real career of King Henry exceeds in every dramatic respect the imagined career of "Emperor Jones," the colored ruler of O'Neill's famous play.

The list of new books follows:

"Wintersmoon," Horace Walpole.
"Strange Interlude," Eugene O'Neal
"An Artist in the Family," Sarah Millin.
"Gun Smoke," Dane Coolidge.
"I'd Venture All for Thee," J. S. Fletcher.
"Deluge," S. Fowler Wright.
"Jane Carroll," E. Temple Thurston.
"The Shadow from the Bogue," Clement Wood.
"Black Majesty," John Vandercook.
"Saffari," Martin Johnson.
"Christ at the Round Table," E. Stanley Jones.
"We Have Changed All That," Herbert Quick.
"Master Mind of Mars," Edgar Burroughs.
"Crimson Roses," Grace Livingston Hill.

NAB ROWDY GANG

scores of spectators watched the sight of a man with coattails flying in close pursuit of a hard-looking youth in rough clothes.

Finally, as his wind was about gone, the boy also felt the strain and the Justice of the Peace returned with red face and defiant captive.

The two boys were taken to Ardmore to join their companions and Officers Allie Johnson and Howard Miller went back to help in the roundup. Then followed more running, through fields and properties west of Lancaster avenue until four exhausted men had 14 suspects behind the bars.

A hearing was given the gang by Magistrate Walzer at Ardmore Thursday afternoon. Six of the youths confessed to robbing Byron Edgerton, son of L. B. Edgerton, of Chestnut avenue; William Harris, son of Jesse S. Harris, of Merion avenue; Ned Bartlett, son of Charles H. Bartlett, also of Merion avenue, and Edgar Shank, of Rosemont.

In addition to these four victims, several other boys of the south side, witnesses of the affair, were on hand with parents and neighbors. Reference to Philadelphia police records disclosed the fact that most of the first group of young bandits had police records, and that one was out on probation at the time of the invasion of Narberth.

The six were held for trial in the Juvenile Courts at Norristown. They are Camilo Cestorni, Norman Zohn, Philip McAnany, Robert Flynn, Joe Anderson and John Dowling.

The younger boys, who had not participated in the banditry of the first day were fined $8.50 each for disorderly conduct, although several protesting parents claimed that their young hopefuls were in Narberth on respectable errands. The magistrate claimed that company chosen for the visit did not indicate that.

SERVICE WILL BE LAST

Dr. Andrew Mutch will conduct his last communion service in the old Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church Sunday. The present church was built in 1894, and Dr. Mutch has been its pastor for 16 years.

Ardmore Rotarians Win at Bowling

With memories of former defeats in baseball, fishing and attendance contests at the hands of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotarians, Ardmore went to the Brookline Square Club last Thursday night primed for slaughter. They took the scalps of the visitors in all three games of the match to the total tune of 2334 to 2213.

Ardmore's Picking and Smedley, of the visitors, fought it out for individual honors with Smedley topping the list, 530 points to 528. Decker, King, Barkman and Hemphill all contributed noble scores.

A Baby in a Bonnet
—pretty Easter sight!

ANY of the new Bonnets that have just arrived for Easter would make an entrancing frame for a pretty Baby-face. Mother could not resist them if she saw them—and Baby would love them, too! There are also pretty frocks to choose from for children of any size. Make them happy with some new Easter finery—the charm of pretty clothes begins with the very young.

"Co-operation cuts costs" is our slogan, which is not an empty collection of words, but a slogan that means "service" at a lower price than food could otherwise be sold. It exercises a restraining influence on the monopolistic chain stores who could, were it not for the co-opera tive stores, obtain a much higher price from the consumer.

Give the co-operative stores a share of your busi-ness. Talk to the proprietors as your friends and neighbors, and by mutual contact and sympathy establish afriendship that will brighten both your homes and the s tores where you buy your food.
